

I write on behalf of my father, a man that was making his 3rd amphibious assault when his boots hit the sands of Omaha Beach, and myself, a veteran of 8 years service with the Army Nurse Corps. Please DO NOT relax the rules on media ownership. If anything, the Fairness Doctrine should be restored and media monopolies broken up. It does not matter how many different sources of information are open to the public, the vast majority of Americans get their information from television, which has proven to be more geared towards entertainment than the information and knowledge necessary to sustain a vibrant democracy. The corporate media is driven by greed, not public service. They use the PEOPLES' airwaves to promulgate the propaganda that will enhance their already obscene wealth. Do not insult the sacrifices made by millions of American veterans by relaxing these standards any farther.
